Russia Pours Cold Water on Test Ban Offer

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP) — The 17-nation disarmament conference resumed today with a call from President Kennedy for a safeguarded nuclear test ban agreement that would sow confidence and trust among the nations. The Soviet Union promptly threw in a blockbuster.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov followed up Kennedy's message with a proposal that would deprive the United States of the use of foreign bases for its nuclear deterrent forces.

Kuznetsov's proposal — coming after U.S. and British expressions of optimism over a nuclear test ban — caught Western negotiators by surprise. The Soviet plan has no chance of acceptance by the Western powers.

The plan provides for an East-West treaty calling for a permanent ban on "the use of foreign territories for stationing strategic means of delivery of nuclear weapons."

Kuznetsov accompanied his proposal with an attack on nations that have established submarine and other strategic nuclear bases on foreign territories "for the purpose of dealing a nuclear blow

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Tight security measures and signs calling for his impeachment greeted Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States, Monday night. City and state leaders urged Georgians to treat the Supreme Court official with dignity and respect.

Warren is to speak today before an audience of students and faculty at Georgia Tech, commemorating the 75th anniversary of the school.

He arrived late Monday night under close police security. A few hours earlier an Atlanta physician was assured in state court that he had the constitutional right to display signs calling for impeachment of Warren. Twenty-four signs have been placed about the city on private property.

Warren was chief justice in 1954 when the Supreme Court outlawed segregation in public schools.

Georgia Tech began desegregation in 1961, as did Atlanta city schools.

The court case was launched by Dr. Henry G. Stelling, member of a group calling itself the Atlanta Committee for the Impeachment of Earl Warren. He asked the court to forbid Atlanta and its police force from removing or defacing the signs.

Stelling's petition was dismissed by Superior Court Judge Durwood T. Pye after an attorney for the city, Newell Edenfield, told the court that the city was in complete agreement that the physician had the right to place the signs on private property with the owners' consent.

Stelling said the committee sent a telegram to the chief justice which read in part: "We feel that you should know that you are not welcome here. We feel that you have not upheld your oath to defend the Constitution of the United States of America."

Some literature was distributed in the Georgia Legislature calling for Warren's impeachment, but most lawmakers dismissed it as "trash."

The anti-Warren activities prompted fears of a possible demonstration at the airport and a large group of state and city law enforcement officers were on hand. Newsmen and photographers were kept away from Warren and the party of officials greeting him.

Rain Delays Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An overnight rain and lightning storm which kept workmen off the launching pad forced a 24-hour postponement—until early Thursday—of an attempt to launch the Syncom communications satellite. The shot had been scheduled for 12:01 a.m. Wednesday. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that the launch crew had been unable to do preliminary work on the rocket and payload because of the danger posed by lightning, which accompanied heavy rain. Officials had expressed doubt earlier that the Wednesday launch could be met because of pre-dicted high altitude winds which could affect the Delta booster rocket.

Demonstration at Pine Bluff Brings Suspension of Ten Students by AM&N College

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas AM&N College suspended 10 students for participating in sit-in demonstrations here Monday. Dr. Lawrence Davis, president of the all-Negro school, said the names of the students, six men and four women, would not be released until today. Davis said the notices of suspension were delivered to the students last night by the Dean of Men. The suspensions are for an indefinite length of time, Davis said. He declined to comment further. Negroes demonstrated early Monday at a Woodworth variety store lunch counter. It was closed.

Bond Issue at Helena Approved

HELENA, Ark. (AP) — West Helena voters approved a $434,000 revenue bond issue to finance sewer improvements and expansion of the sewer system by 37 votes here Monday.

The bonds passed 484 to 447. A simple majority is all that was needed.

The federal government, through three grants, would pay $397,000 of the total cost.

The bonds would be paid off through water usage by customers.

Medicare Bill Called Political

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The 1962 version of the Medicare Bill was politically inspired, was used only to get votes with and can be expected again in this Congressional session, the president-elect of the American Medical Association said here Monday.

Dr. Edward Annis of Miami, Fla., told a group at the University of Arkansas Medical Center that President Kennedy is committed to the Social Security proposal because it was a plank in the 1960 Democratic platform.

The administration proposal was a bill "to get votes with," Annis said. Details of this year's bill haven't been revealed yet, but the president is expected to tell them in a special message to Congress this week.

Even before Annis became president-elect of the AMA, he battled the Medicare Bill an abacked the Kerr-Mills Act. He appeared on nationwide television to answer a rally at Madison Square Garden, at which Kennedy and several hundred elderly persons boosted Medicare.

Kerr - Mills, if expanded and properly used, is the answer to medical needs of elderly citizens, Annis said.

"This bill is working where there are honest men who know it, understand it and want it to work," Annis said.

He said honest men are men like Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Ark., authors of the Kerr-Mills Act.

State legislatures and even doctors must be educated on what the Kerr-Mills Act can accomplish, Annis said.

"It will provide total medical care, down to crutches and eyeglasses," he said.

Annis spoke last week to the Tennessee legislature and will speak next week to the Indiana legislature.

The Medicare proposal "would provide limited care to everybody, whether he needed it or not," Annis said. "Kerr - Mills will take care of those who need it."

He said the AMA does not object to all of Kennedy's health measures, but he said Kerr-Mills will "do the job cheaper." In Florida, for example, Kerr - Mills would cost $5 million in state money while $41 million in higher Social Security taxes would have been sent to Washington if the Kennedy Medicare bill had passed last year, Annis said.

Annis is scheduled to speak tonight to the Camden Chamber of Commerce.

'Do Pass' Tagged on Bill to Increase Truck Load Limit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two House committees recommended passage today of three bills in a package of truck weight legislation.

The Roads and Highways Committee put a "do pass" recommendation on bills to increase the truck weight limit to 73,200 pounds and to transfer the Weights and Standards Division from jurisdiction of the State Police to the Highway Department.

The Revenue and Taxation Committee gave 6-4 approval to a bill which would increase license fees for trucks weighing more than 56,000 pounds.

Committee action came after a public hearing at which Highway Director F. R. Oliver explained that the recent Illinois Road Tests show that the axle load and not the gross weight of the truck was the principal factor in road damage.

The bill under consideration in the legislature, would not change the present axle limit of 18,000 pounds on a single axle and 32,000 pounds on a tandem axle.

Oliver said the proposed license increase on heavy trucks would bring the fee in line with those charged in neighboring states.

He said Arkansas will still be behind surrounding states in total license revenues from trucks but that the difference comes in the charges assessed against vehicles of 56,000 pounds and under.

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—With the threat of controversy over the proposed voter registration bill temporarily sidelined, the Arkansas House was expected to turn its attention today to truck weight legislation.

A joint meeting of House Roads and Highways and Revenue and Taxation Committees was scheduled to take up the bills at a public hearing.

The voter registration hassle will come up again Thursday when the House Rules Committee meets to study proposed amendments to the measure.

It is by the amendment route that new efforts will be made to attach a literacy requirement to the bill.

The House worked for more than an hour on proposed amendments Monday and then voted 43-42 to re-refer the bill to the Rules Committee after a dispute broke out over an amendment to remove a requirement that the registrant sign his application personally.

The amendment, which finally was adopted by a 56-26 vote, would permit close relatives to register for the voters as relatives now are permitted to pay a voter's poll tax.

The House so far has approved 12 amendments to the bill and rejected two, both dealing with literacy. The approved amendments generally make technical changes dealing with administration of the law by county clerks.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said at a news conference Monday that he would like to see a simple registration bill which would permit everyone to vote.

The House got two new bills Monday which are sure to provoke controversy. One would increase the poll tax.

Bourgholtzer will be allowed to return to Moscow to close the NBC bureau.

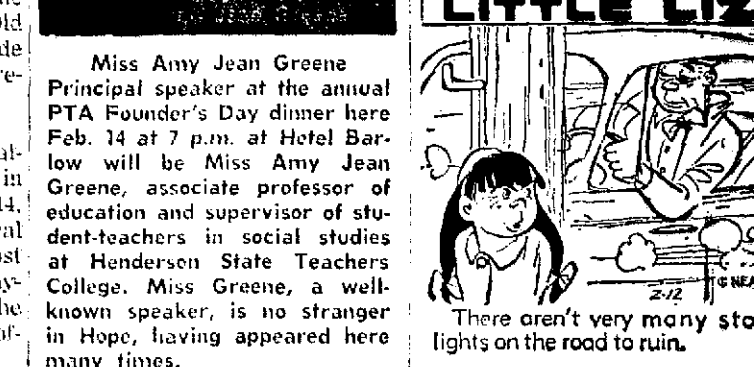

James said Zamyatin made clear that the closure of the bureau was not aimed at either himself or Bourgholtzer.

It was the second time in recent years that a U.S. broadcasting company's Moscow bureau has been closed because of a program presented in the United States.

The Columbia Broadcasting System bureau was closed in October 1958 after a CBS television play, "The Plot to Kill Stalin," showed Premier Khrushchev preventing an aide from giving medicine to Stalin as he lay dying.

CBS was allowed to reopen its bureau in November 1959.

Macmillan Certain to Get Backing

By ANTHONY WHITE

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan appeared certain to win parliamentary endorsement today of his program to counter the effects of the French veto barring Britain from the Common Market.

The House of Commons, winding up a two-day debate on the country's economic future, was scheduled to vote late in the day on a Labor party motion of no confidence. With the Conservatives holding a 100-vote margin over the combined Labor-Liberal opposition, there was virtually no chance that Macmillan's government would fall on the issue.

Opening the debate Monday, Macmillan roundly denounced President Charles de Gaulle's government for its veto, then outlined a series of emergency actions he is planning to fill the void caused by the collapsed negotiations.

Among them:

A Commonwealth trade ministers' meeting to be held in London in April or May to stimulate business.

Britain will seek closer trading cooperation with the United States, her friends in Europe and other nations.

The government intends to drive for world commodity agreements, a cutback of tariffs and freer trade generally.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer declared in an interview he feels certain Britain can gain admittance to the European trading bloc soon.

In what could be interpreted as a rebuke to De Gaulle, Adenauer also emphatically backed the Kennedy-Macmillan Nassau agreement calling for the establishment of a multinational nuclear force for the North Atlantic Alliance.

U.S. to Use Giant Crawlers

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Marion Power Shovel Co., major manufacturer of heavy equipment, has received an order from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to build two giant crawler vehicles to be used in the Apollo moonshot program.

To cost $5 million each, the 5.5-million pound crawlers will be used to carry the Apollo spacecraft and its equipment into launching position.

The crawlers will be so big—130 feet long and 115 feet wide—that Marion Power Shovel will ship them in pieces to the space agency's launching area near Merritt Island, Fla. They will be capable of lifting a load of 12 million pounds.

church last Sunday night. And Saturday a group of stone-throwing white youths chased the demonstrators from the store to a church.

The students who returned to the counter Monday left late in the afternoon and walked eight blocks to a church. Several cars of white persons followed, but there were no incidents. Several policemen stood by.

The Rev. Arthur A. Robinson, pastor of St. James African Methodist Episcopal (Negro) Church in Pine Bluff, called Davis' statement a cowardly act.

The Sunday night rally was held at his church, and there one leader challenged the Negroes to "sit, sit, sit until everything is open to us."

Robinson has been a leader in the sit-in demonstration movement. He is on temporary assignment to the church from Baton Rouge, La., where he reportedly took part in other non-violent protests to segregation.

Meetings similar to the one last Sunday will be held each Sunday night, Robinson said. He added that Rev. Martin Luther King, Negro non-violent demonstration leader, would be asked to speak.

Harris Bill Aids Broadcasters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep.

Oren Harris, D-Ark., introduced a bill in the U.S. House of Representatives Monday which would relieve broadcasters of the requirement of giving equal time to all 1964 nominees for president and vice president.

The bill is identical to one passed by Congress to cover the 1960 presidential election.

Its purpose is to free broadcasters from giving time to minor party nominees for president equal to that given the Democratic and Republican nominees.

The 1960 bill is credited with making possible the debates between Sen. John F. Kennedy and vice president Richard M. Nixon.

pose a soft drink tax with revenue to be pledged to city streets and county roads and the other would assess a $20 annual fee against motorists who do not carry automobile liability insurance.

Taxing provisions of the soft drink bill are similar to a 1961 bill which would have pledged revenues to a college construction fund. The tax would be one cent on each bottled drink and 90 cents a gallon on soft drink syrup.

Rep. Lloyd George of Yell County introduced the bill. He said he wanted to "get my roads back home fixed."

The liability insurance bill grew out of a Legislative Council study of the state's financial responsibility laws.

Revenues from the $20 fee would be placed into a fund from which claims against uninsured motorists would be paid.

Another provision of the bill would require motorists who do carry liability insurance to have coverage against personal injury caused by an uninsured driver.

The Senate passed a House bill Monday which would make obscene or abusive telephone calls a misdemeanor. The bill is now ready for the governor's signature.

A bill to abolish the state Livestock Sanitary Board and replace it with a Livestock and Poultry Commission was introduced in the Senate by Sens. J. Lee Bearden of Leachville and Fred Stafford of Marked Tree. The move was proposed by Fausbitt in his inaugural address.

The Senate also got a bill to accomplish another Fausbitt inaugural proposal, closing of the state Confederate Home.

Sen. Doug Bradley of Jonesboro introduced a bill to hold the maximum speed limit for trucks of 1½ tons and larger to 10 miles below the legal speed for passenger automobiles. Trucks and cars now have the same speed limits in Arkansas, but the limit for trucks is lower in many states.

Rep. George Davis of Sevier County introduced a House bill which would permit creation of Rural Development Authorities in the various counties. The agencies would study and recommend means to improve economics of rural areas.

The House passed bills Monday to provide for issuing Arkansas driver's licenses without an examination to persons possessing a valid license from another state or the armed forces and to permit the Highway Department to pay for repairs to county roads damaged as a result of state highway construction projects.

Also passed by the House were 11 appropriations bills, including one to allocate $154,650 during the next two years for the Weights and Measures Division created by a bill passed earlier in the session.

The House was due to reconvene at noon and the Senate at 1 p.m. today.

on vital centers of other states." This meant the United States.

The bases, he charged, "greatly aggravate the international situation and increase the war threat."

Kuznetsov repeated Moscow's position offering two or three on-site inspections a year in the Soviet Union under a test ban treaty. The U.S. position is that eight or 10 are needed. But he put most of his emphasis on the new Soviet proposal and his remarks on the test ban treaty contained no new element giving rise to hopes for an early pact.

Kennedy's message was read to the conference by the chief American disarmament negotiator, William C. Foster.

"The prospects of agreement on a test ban treaty now seem somewhat more encouraging than before because of the acceptance by the Soviet Union of the principle of on-site inspection."

But Kennedy stressed that the Soviet Union must show a genuine willingness to negotiate. Foster told Kuznetsov that two or three inspections a year were not satisfactory.

He asked the Soviet Union to bargain on this point and on the number of black boxes—which would be allowed on Russian soil.

Kuznetsov merely restated the old Russian position and displayed no trace of a willingness to compromise.

Shortly before the conference opened after a long recess Britain's chief negotiator said the Western powers may be willing to scale down still further the number of on-site inspections needed to control a nuclear test ban. But there was no indication the United States was ready for such a stand.

British Minister of State Gordon Godber told a news conference shortly before the resumption of the 17-nation disarmament conference that any such Western concession would require a corresponding Soviet will to meet the Western demand for fool-proof safeguards.

The Soviet Union has offered to allow two or three inspections a year on Soviet territory, as well as the installation of three "black box" automatic recording stations. The West has rejected this as inadequate.

The United States and Britain maintain that eight to 10 inspections and seven to 10 black boxes would be necessary to give adequate safeguards against violation of a test ban treaty.

Godber said the Western inspection requirement was based on a ratio of one inspection for every five unidentified seismic tremors in an average year.

"It would be unrealistic, of course, to expect us to come down from this ratio at the moment, but our standards are not immutable," Godber said.

"We certainly would have to see some advances from Russia. They would have to come some way to meet us. We have always regarded the one-to-five ratio as an effective deterrent, but we are more interested in having a deterrent than in sticking to any particular number."

Another new development cuts cost of pipelining natural gas

The two outdoor compressors (foreground) can produce as much horsepower as the ten compressors housed in the building in the background.

Pipeline compressors traditionally have been housed in buildings. But two years ago, Texas Eastern departed from tradition—and installed its first compressor unit out in the open. The new concept proved a good one. As additional horsepower has been needed, more outdoor units—electric motor and gas turbine driven—have been added along Texas Eastern's 7,000-mile natural gas system. The installation savings have already amounted to almost a million dollars. Future savings can run even higher.

Texas Eastern, as the leading pipeline of energy, also takes the lead in searching for and finding new ways to cut pipelining costs—and in setting the pace for economical and efficient pipelining. This benefits every user of natural gas in the areas served by Texas Eastern, whether in home or in industry. Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, Houston, Texas.

Station's Antenna Falls at Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Television station KAIT-TV's $25,000 transmitting antenna crashed down late Monday as workmen were guiding it into place atop the station's 300-foot tower.

There were no injuries. Several men were operating guide ropes from the ground.

The station was expected to begin broadcasts within 60 days. Rubin Masters, Station Manager, said the destruction of the antenna will "only slightly" delay getting on the air.

KAIT-TV is the state's newest station. The loss was covered by insurance, Masters said.

Sam Linebaugh, foreman for Utility Tower Co., said he did not know what caused the accident. "I felt the guide rope go slack and the tower came down," he said.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Charges of armed robbery were filed Monday against Frank Wadelski, 30; Julio Perez, 33; and Manuel Zurita, 30, all of Chicago. They were charged with the robbery of over $2,500 from a grocery store here last Friday night. Pros. Atty. David Whittington recommended $12,500 bond for each of them.

Lincoln Had His Domestic Worries Too!

LINCOLN HAD HIS DOMESTIC WORRIES TOO! BY HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Give the boys a break for a change! Sure wives have a lot to put up with but so do husbands. Nothing I do is right with my wife. Our kids being of school age, we both work—she part time. To make things easier for her I get breakfast: fruit juice, toast and coffee (she is on a diet). Try as I will, she always complains that the juice is either too warm or too cold; the toast soggy, and the coffee weak as water. A small matter, you might say, but the continual criticism wears me down.

She spends her own money as she wishes—never a question from me but I've got to account for every cent of my salary. And, if she so much as squanders a dime on the house, I never hear the last of it. When the children are bad, she refers to them as "your brats" but if they are good, it is "my darling children." Contrary is her middle name. If I want to go one road, she's bound to say, "take the other." To punctuate her remarks she'll grab the handiest object and hurl it at me. Yesterday she chased me out of the house with a broom, it's degrading to have this happen before the children and, even worse, the neighbors. Should I call it a day and divorce? —Tormented Husband

Dear Tormented: That depends upon your strength of character. If you have the fortitude, I would say stand fast. Abraham Lincoln whose birthday this is, weathered a domestic situation similar to yours and was the greater for it. Your letter, plus the fact that Lincoln's birthday was approaching, prompted me to research on the subject. "The Hidden Lincoln," a book based on the letters and papers of the President's law partner, was most revealing. Read the excerpts from this letter Herndon wrote to his friend and collaborator, Jesse Weik, and profit: "I wish to state some facts about Abraham Lincoln's domestic relations which I do not want to be forgotten. About the year 1837

a man by the name of Barrett was passing along Eighth Street near Lincoln's house (in Springfield, Ill.); he saw a long, tall man running and saw a little, low, squat woman with a butcher knife in her hand in hot pursuit; he looked and saw that the man was Lincoln and Mrs. Lincoln was the woman. Stephen Whitehurst lived in the same block, his house being east of Lincoln's. Whitehurst was in that day—Sunday if I recollect—standing in the back door of his own house and saw what happened. Lincoln ran down the walk in his own lot hut, seeing the people coming from church, or going to it, stopped short... wheeled around, caught Mrs. Lincoln by the back of the neck and at the seat of her drawers, carried or pushed her squealing along the walk back to the house — Lincoln's house — got her to the door of the kitchen, opened it, pushed her in, at the same time, to use Whitehurst's expression, gave her a hell of a slap on her seat, saying to her: "There now, stay in the house and don't be a damned fool before the people."

Again in the winter of 1857 the Supreme Court was in session and Lincoln had an important suit to argue. He came in the clerk's office — his nose was plastered up... with court plaster. Now for the facts. Lincoln had on the day before become somewhat abstracted, thoughtful and let the fire in the sitting room nearly die out. Mrs. Lincoln came to the door of the sitting room from the kitchen and said, "Mr. Lincoln put some wood on the fire." Lincoln did not hear her... Mrs. Lincoln came to the sitting room again and said, "Mr. Lincoln, mend up the fire." Mr. Lincoln did not hear Mrs. Lincoln; she came in again and picked up a stick of wood and said, "Mr. Lincoln, I have told you now three times to men the fire and you have pretended that you did not hear me. I'll make you hear me this time." And she blazed away at Lincoln with a stick of stove wood and hit him on the nose. Someone in the court room asked Lincoln

Against 15 Year Olds Driving

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Representatives of parent-teacher associations argued before the House Education Committee today against a bill which would permit 15-year-olds to get drivers' licenses upon completion of driver education courses.

The committee took no action on the bill, which already has passed the Senate.

It's author, Sen. Tom Allen of Brinkley, argued that it was designed to encourage driver education and he presented expert witnesses in driver education who testified that a 15-year-old with a driving course would be a safer driver than an older child without one.

Arkansas now grants unrestricted drivers' licenses to 16-year-olds.

Mrs. Pat Murphy of Little Rock was the main speaker for the what was the matter; he made an evasive reply. Lincoln's domestic life was a home hell on this globe.

Man Kills Self, Five Children Q

KINGSFORD, Tenn. (AP) — A Kingsport man shot and killed five children today and then mortally wounded himself, police said.

Police Sgt. Lonis Allen said D. C. Pierson, a guard at the Tennessee Eastman plant, shot the children and himself with a 12-gauge shotgun.

"We don't have any details of the shooting or the names of the children," Allen said, "but they're all dead."

Officers said the mother was not home at the time.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jerry Johnson, 19, a Negro who was charged last week with the fatal stabbing of a North Little Rock white woman, was committed to the State Hospital Monday for a 30-day mental examination.

P-TA group. She said the P-TA favored driver education but was opposed to lowering the age for an unrestricted license.

Allen countered that 15-year-olds are driving illegally already and that the highways would be safer if his bill passes.

Frank Potter, executive secretary of the Arkansas Automobile Association, said he felt Allen's bill was a practical approach to the problem of young drivers.

He said opposition to the bill represented "trying to shift parental responsibility to the state."

New Attacks Over Cuba Policy

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration, under heavy fire from its political opponents, is striking back at Republican critics of its Cuban policy.

In the face of a fresh assault by GOP congressional leaders on the inept conduct of our foreign affairs by the Kennedy administration, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., have teamed to condemn what they called partisan and irresponsible charges.

Mansfield, the Democratic leader, pointed his guns at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa. He told the Senate Monday that "irresponsible public utterances are playing dangerously with the fires of public emotion."

Humphrey called on Republicans to make certain that "a wash of charges that cannot be substantiated by facts do not find their way into this chamber" or into the newspapers.

"The people are worried, concerned and indeed confused because of so many conflicting reports," he said. He added that President Kennedy, the Defense Department and the Central Intelligence Agency "have been frank and candid" in disclosing Soviet military strength in Cuba.

Mansfield said Rockefeller was well informed on Latin American affairs, but, "I must confess that I looked in vain for a contribution worthy of him" in the governor's comments on Cuba.

Rockefeller has said the administration's disclosures about Cuba left many unanswered questions. He said that while Soviet soldiers and equipment there may not pose a military threat to the United States, they constitute a propaganda, subversive and possible military threat to other hemisphere nations.

Mansfield flatly denied — as Scott had suggested — that there was any deal between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Kennedy for the removal of American missiles in Europe in exchange for the withdrawal of Soviet missiles in Cuba.

In a barb patently aimed at Keating, one of the most vocal critics of the administration, Mansfield told his colleagues he would be the last to suggest that members of Congress know less about matters pertaining to Cuba than the President, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense.

"But I would suggest most respectfully," he said, "that the responsible course which helps rather than hurts the nation would be for these well-informed members to take their inside, unimpeachable information on Cuba to the appropriate departments at the same time that they take it to the press galleries."

Denies He Wouldn't Play Negroes

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — A controversy flared today on whether Oregon State University had discriminated against Negro players on its basketball squads.

A state legislator said there never had been a Negro on a team coached by Amory T. (Slat) Gill. Gill, who has been basketball coach at Oregon State for 35 years, said that any accusation of racial discrimination was false.

Gill said there had never been any racial discrimination on the Oregon State basketball team.

"I wish," he said, "that those people who are making such charges would help us get a Negro on our basketball team who would measure up to our current players."

Gill said that over the years, several Negroes had been sought for the team and that one had played with the squad for a short while.

He said that Negroes had been given the same opportunities as white boys—both in recruiting and in competition for the team.

"I'm looking for good boys. If they are good, nothing makes any difference — race or anything," Gill said.

Communist Crackdown in Iraq

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraq's revolutionary regime, already shooting Iraqi Reds, had begun cracking down on Communist residents from Eastern Europe, a German traveler said today.

"They are treating the Westerners excellently, but for people from the Eastern European Communist countries it is a very different thing," said Gunter Stocker, a crack-down on unlicensed and stray dogs. Eden said that only 114 dog licenses had been purchased this year despite the fact that at least 1,000 dogs are kept in West Memphis.

Eden said that this fact coupled with the fact that the city's current dog catching system is ineffective brought on the more stringent measures.

The tranquilizer gun is gas-powered and delivers a small dart. The new regime was reported to be using the gun to help wage actively painless and renders the out war against diabolic Communist dog immobile for a short period, nist backers of Kassem.

Says Canada Must Honor All Pledges

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada must honor pledges to its allies and accept nuclear warheads, Liberal party leader Lester B. Pearson said Monday night.

Only then will Canada's voice be strong enough in Western policy making circles to press effectively for disarmament, Pearson told 700 cheering supporters as he kicked off his party's campaign for the April 8 House of Commons election. He spoke to the Liberal party's National Council.

Pearson charged the conservative government with failing to meet commitments to North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies by refusing to accept U.S. nuclear warheads.

That failure, he said, demoralized Canada's armed services, deceived Canada's allies and undermined the good name of Canada abroad.

Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, speaking in Toronto, denied Canada defaulted on its commitments. He repeated his argument, made in the House of Commons before his government fell, that Canada must delay its decision on nuclear arms until the NATO council meets in Ottawa in May.

Negotiations are continuing to insure that Canada will have ready access to nuclear warheads in time of need, Diefenbaker added.

Diefenbaker's new defense minister Gordon Churchill, promised to make a full statement on Canadian defense policy in the next few days.

Navy Let Him Stay, It Was a Good Thing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ten years ago, the Navy was on the verge of ousting Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover. Now it's thinking of keeping him on after retirement age.

Rickover, acclaimed as the father of the nuclear-powered submarine, will reach that age, 64, next January.

The Defense Department disclosed Monday that Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth has the question of Rickover's future "under active consideration."

No decision has been made, it added, because the admiral's retirement date is still almost a year off.

Annapolis-graduate Rickover almost got the heave-ho for rocking the boat. By the time he had reached captain he had stepped on enough Navy toes that his promotion to admiral was twice passed over, which would have meant retirement. Congressional pressure saved his career. Rickover got his star and the Navy got its first nuclear sub.

Rickover, in charge of the Navy's reactor program, had a half hour chat with President Kennedy Monday about the Polaris program.

To keep Rickover in uniform, the Navy under present regulations could retire him and then bring him back to active duty.

It appeared to be better than an outside chance that the Navy would steer this course rather than risk another collision with Rickover's congressional backers.

JFK Vague on Multinational Nuclear Force

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is vague on one of his most important foreign policy programs: Creating a so-called multinational nuclear force among this country's NATO allies.

He has never spelled out his idea. Nor did he do it Thursday at this news conference. The reason is that at this moment he probably doesn't know how it can be done.

He can't hand over nuclear weapons to the allies. A law passed by Congress forbids it. Under that law the most he could do would be to put the weapons into some kind of NATO pool—so long as they remained under American control.

But some of the allies—France and Canada in particular—resent American control of nuclear weapons in their territory.

French President de Gaulle rejected Kennedy's idea of a multinational nuclear force. He wants his own. Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker delayed accepting the weapons under such conditions. In a dispute about it he was overthrown.

Just to show how nebulous this whole business is:

Kennedy, in his news conference discussion of a multinational nuclear force, said the allies who don't have nuclear weapons now should have a larger voice and "control" over them. His can't be done without congressional approval.

But, he said, this requires a "good deal of negotiation and imagination" and "we come to a conclusion, or during a conclusion, we will continue to consult with Congress which has special responsibilities."

What he did there, when he said when "we come to a conclusion" and then add "or during a conclusion," was to have second thoughts.

The law requires the government to keep the congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy informed as it goes along—not afterward—on all matters relating to the development or use of atomic energy, and that includes weapons.

The President added: "We are conscious of our obligations under the McMahon (atomic energy) Act and, therefore, it will be very sensitive and difficult, but I think a possible operation for us to carry out in the coming months. "The purpose is to prevent the (NATO) alliance from dissolving on this difficult and sensitive control of nuclear weapons, which is tied up with sovereignty. The Nassau agreement was an effort to meet this."

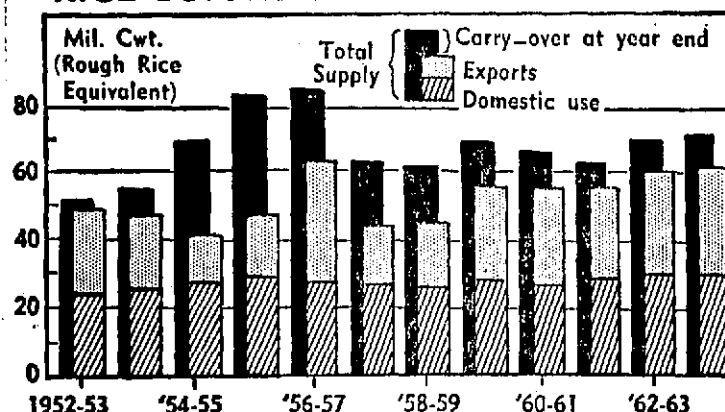

But under the Nassau agreement he made with British Prime Minister Macmillan this country would simply turn over Polaris submarine missiles to Britain, which would then have to make her own nuclear warheads.

The United States has agreements with other NATO partners he leaves. Therefore, France, as Turkey, Greece, the Netherlands, West Germany, Italy—for exchange of information in connection with nuclear defense. But it can't give any of them nuclear weapons.

Besides, none of them can make its own nuclear warheads because none has developed its own nuclear power. That leaves only two NATO partners who might be able to: Britain and France.

RICE SUPPLY AND DISTRIBUTION

JUST ABOUT AVERAGE—U.S. rice supply for 1962-63 is estimated at 70.1 million hundredweight, rough rice equivalent. (The 1963 bars on chart are estimates.) This is 8 per cent above the figure for a year ago, but comes pretty close to the 1956-1960 average. Exports, at an estimated 32.0 million cwt., would be about 10 per cent above those in 1961-62. Carry-over at end of the 1962-63 marketing year may total about 9.0 million cwt. Data: figured on marketing year beginning in August, as compiled by Department of Agriculture.

clear power. That leaves only two NATO partners who might be able to: Britain and France.

So this whole so-called plan of a multinational nuclear force looks at best, under present law, hardly more than a semblance of control over American nuclear weapons while actual control remains in American hands.

The United States is permitted under law to give Britain components of weapons and even design information but not the nuclear weapons themselves. How does this happen?

The law says the President can do this provided the nation on the receiving end of such help has "made substantial progress in the development of atomic weapons."

But France has made a lot of progress at least in the development of atomic power if not precisely in the development of weapons. Why, then, hasn't the United States given France the same information it gave Britain?

The answer probably is this although for obvious reasons no one in government is likely to admit it: Doubt about the continuing stability of the French government.

It had fallen into chaos until De Gaulle took over in 1958. It's stable now. But no one can say it won't turn into total chaos after he leaves. Therefore, France, as a government, is a risk.

Various agreements worked out with other governments can go into effect—so long as they don't violate the law—within 60 days unless both houses of Congress pass a resolution objecting.

Anything else would require a change in the law.

Matt went upstairs and through the warehouse. He waited for a few minutes until he saw Bernard, with a kit heading to Johnson's office on the second floor, then he went outside. He stood in front of the building.

Presently he saw Bradley and McCann emerge from the Ad building. They were followed by Rispin and Johnson, and behind these two came Malcolm Westfall black eye and all. They marched like a yardbird detail straight to the security office.

Matt waited for about five minutes. Then he heaved a sigh as he saw Bernard descending the stairway. "Finished?" he asked.

"Yep," he said. "Microwave transmitter. Don't need wire." "Get it all down on tape," said Matt.

"The easiest," said Bernard. Matt strolled toward the cafeteria. At that moment McCann's procession emerged from the Security Office in the same order as it had marched in, except that walking beside Westfall was Jack Clague. The column had been formed in descending rank and walked with military precision, brain-washing him by remote control and he'll come to you and unison.

The column of two came straight at Matt but he halted without a command, excepting for Clague who wasn't used to reading McCann's mind, and who walked on Johnson's heels. The group stood at attention as Bradley presented Matt to Rodney McCann. Then it stood at ease.

"I've wanted to meet this brilliant sleuth," said McCann, with sarcasm in his voice. "I think we need you on our sales staff. You seem to have done such a marvelous snow job Corbin Bradley."

Guffaws chorused in unison from everyone but Bradley, who flushed.

"He found the body, Rodney," said Bradley.

"You have a one-track mind," said McCann. "Well, Mr. Bacon, have you solved the case?"

"Almost," Matt said without enthusiasm.

"How soon can we expect an arrest?" McCann seemed to be baiting Matt.

"It depends on how much cooperation I get from the killer," Matt said.

"Ah! A war of nerves. You're brain-washing him by remote control and he'll come to you and confess all?"

The five men in McCann's daisy chain didn't seem to know whether to laugh or not. McCann hadn't spoken as if he expected laughter.

"If I'm lucky, I may have him today," said McCann. "We'll have him before you will."

"You will?"

"Indeed we shall. You see here the executives of the Lakeland Research Laboratory of Magnetic Electric. Close to two hundred thousand dollars a year in talent. We're visiting the scene of the crime and we expect to find something that has been overlooked. Mr. Rispin here is well acquainted with crime detection methods. He's an amateur criminologist."

Rispin swelled with pride.

"Bradley, Johnson and Westfall are capable and intelligent. That's all we need. Brains and determination."

"You didn't mention Jack," said Matt.

"Mr. Clague is an experienced law enforcement officer," said McCann. "He'll deal with violence if we meet it."

The column snapped to attention and marched off without a command.

Matt watched it turn into the nuclear lab when and then saw Dr. Stroup hurrying toward him.

"Did you drop off the daisy chain?" Matt asked.

"Heavens no," said Stroup.

"I've been hiding out. I'll see enough of them later. They're coming over to the Bevatron lab to watch me conclude my project."

"Why don't you line 'em up in front of the Bevatron," Matt said.

"That's a good idea. Except that I wouldn't wish it onto my worst enemy."

Matt ate a leisurely dinner in the cafeteria. By the time he finished, McCann and his little helpers had arrived, breathless and rather downhearted. Matt gathered from snatches of the conversation that they hadn't solved the murder, or have a hot suspect.

Matt went to the Security Office, leaving the Taisy Chain with its problem. The officer on duty there said that Lieutenant Moynihan had gone downtown, but would return sometime after 1. It was 12:30 o'clock. It changed Matt's plans a little, but he left a note for Moynihan in an unsealed envelope on Jack Clague's desk. He figured that Clague would read it, but it was as much for Clague as Moynihan. It said that would be in Johnson's office and to come there if Moynihan wanted to be in on the finish of the track-down.

"If Moynihan doesn't see it, call his attention to it," said Matt to the officer. "Or tell Jack."

Hearing Held in Kidnap Case

HELENA, Ark. (AP) — A preliminary hearing was held in Municipal Court today for two men charged with kidnaping a 15-year-old Pine Bluff girl Sunday. The men were arrested in Clarendon Sunday and jailed in Helena. The girl was returned to Pine Bluff.

Floyd Bradford Carter, 43, and Chester Leon Adams, 26, both of Pine Bluff, were bound over to Phillips Circuit Court without bond.

Adams also was charged with carnal abuse.

Both were fined $200 and sentenced to 90 days in jail for carrying a pistol and fined $100 for disturbing the peace.

Adams also was fined $250 and sentenced to six months in jail for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and fined $100 for threatening the life of another.

Both men were held in the Phillips County Jail.

The average American spends only about a fifth of his income from a 40-hour week for food.

High Court Reverses Assault Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court reversed today the aggravated assault conviction of a Washington County man who was not permitted to testify about injuries he allegedly sustained at the hands of the prosecuting witness.

The appellant, Albert Frank Baker of near Lincoln, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to 180 days in jail after a jury trial. He appealed on grounds the court refused to permit the jury to hear testimony about his wounds or medical treatment he received for them.

An extract of the testimony showed Baker would have testified that he received a head cut which required 11 stitches in addition to other wounds during a fight out of which the charge against him grew.

The Supreme Court affirmed a 7-year prison sentence given Dave Lillard in Pulaski Circuit Court on a second degree murder conviction.

Lillard was charged with first degree murder in the shotgun slaying of Mack King in Little Rock on June 14, 1960.

Lillard appealed on grounds that evidence against him was insufficient, but the high court ruled otherwise. Lillard testified that he was shooting at Pete King, the dead man's brother.

The Supreme Court granted a writ of prohibition against Phillips Circuit Judge Elmo Taylor, which, in effect, quashed service of a subpoena on Mary Ruth Wilhelm, now of Houston, Tex.

The woman is one of the defendants in a damage suit filed in Taylor's Court. The judge held that a subpoena served on her as a non-resident of the state had been properly served.

The Supreme Court held, however, that she was a legal resident of Helena when the alleged damage occurred, and that papers had not been properly served on her.

Also affirmed was the Miller Circuit Court conviction of C. R. Daley, Johnny Loveley and R. Loveley on charges of false pretense.

The men received 5-year suspended prison sentences after the court convicted them of defrauding Jessie A. Mason, 82, of $650 by falsely representing themselves as termite exterminators.

Thought For The Day
We take greater pains to persuade others that we are happy, than in endeavoring to be so ourselves. Goldsmith said it.

Worshipful Master

Keystone Lodge No. 43 met February 5, 1963 with W. M. Harvey L. Washington presiding. The meeting opened in the regular manner with a large number of members present. Membership cards were issued to all members in attendance.

Special correspondence was read from Headquarters stating that W. M. Harvey L. Washington was appointed District Deputy Grand Master of the Northern portion of District No. 5, which comprises Little River, Howard, Pike, Nevada and Hempstead counties. He will act as personal representative of the Grand Master in accordance with previous customs, usage and traditions. R. J. Hicks, reporting.

A report from one aircraft of a yellowish substance in the ocean about 190 miles east of St. Augustine, Fla., sent a small Navy ship, the USS Hoist, to the scene. The Hoist reported the yellow substance was floating seaward.

The Coast Guard reported Sunday it is investigating the possibility that the Sulphur Queen is in Cuba. A spokesman said that the probe concerned the possibility of a hijacking, but then said the ship might have drifted into Cuban waters.

Other Coast Guard sources said the Swiss Embassy in Havana, on a request from the U.S. State Department, presumably is trying to check out speculation that the Marine Transport Lines tanker is in Cuba.

The Sulphur Queen left Beaumont, Tex., Feb. 2. Its course through the Gulf of Mexico would not have been too far from Cuban waters.

Although her route would have taken her through regular sea lanes, no other vessel definitely has reported sighting her.

New efforts were expected today to place some kind of educational requirement in the registration bill.

The House last week struck a literacy amendment from the bill and then defeated efforts to add a

"I say let everyone register and vote," Faubus said in a news conference. "That's the way it's always been in Arkansas."

Faubus indicated, however, that he will not take a hand in the legislative battle at this point. "I'll probably let them fight it out and then take a look at the bill when it comes to me," he said, adding that he could call a special session to pass a registration bill if he has to veto the one he gets.

Crossett Here Tonight in Make-up Game

By CARTER HARDAGE

Tonight at Jon's Field Hopec's Junior and Senior Boys go against Crossett in a make-up game. This Conference victory is important to the Cats, for they need to pep up their 5-2 record. Crossett depends mostly on their 3-year starter, Nason. Also, they have a wicked press in effect during the whole game. Game time is 6:00. At this same time Senior Girls and the Boys 2nd team travel to Gurdon.

Bearcats Continue at the Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of Cincinnati Bearcats, who have won 37 straight games—including 19 this season—top The Associated Press college basketball poll for the 11th straight week.

Trouble could be ahead when the Bearcats go to Wichita Saturday night. Early last season the Shockers snapped an 87-game Bearcat winning streak, 52-51.

Wichita, No. 9 last week, slipped out of the rankings because of a defeat by St. Louis and Ohio State regained a spot in the voting by the 42 members of the special panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Cincinnati got 40 of the 42 first-place votes. Unbeaten Chicago Loyola, 26-0, which continued as runner-up, got one of the other first place votes. The other went to Duke, 17-2, which retained third place.

The top ten, with first place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8 basis, etc. based on games through Saturday, Feb. 9:

1. Cincinnati (40) 418
2. Chicago Loyola (1) 362
3. Duke (1) 324
4. Illinois 302
5. Arizona State 230
6. Mississippi State 148

McClendon Lauds His LSU Tigers

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH

WARREN, Ark. (AP) — More than 800 persons listened politely Monday night as head football coach Charles McClendon of Louisiana State University, man-thumped the tub for his Tigers' first at Warren's sixth annual All-Sports Banquet.

But it was a University of Arkansas crowd that lined the tables in the huge YMCA gym. Before McClendon spoke, he was warned by television personality Bud Campbell, the master of ceremonies, that roadblocks had been set up all along the Arkansas-Louisiana border.

The roadblocks were manned, he said, by Arkansas coach Frank Broyles, his staff and some volunteers, all determined that McClendon would not get back to LSU with any Arkansas football players.

And the crowd treated McClendon to a resounding "Whooo, Pig Soole!"

McClendon, 38, a native of Lewisville, just smiled. He may meet more of the same at Crossett and Texarkana, where he has speeches scheduled later in the week.

Much of his talk Monday night was devoted to this year's Cotton Bowl "the roughest, toughest, hardest-seen clean football game we ever played." LSU won it, 13-0, over Texas.

Parents, fans, college coaches and former Warren High School Lumberjacks attended the banquet which honored the schools' 1962-63 football, basketball, track, swimming, golf and tennis teams.

They came from all over southern Arkansas and from as far north as Little Rock and Russellville.

Dollarway Defense Money Satisfactory

LITTLE ROCK (A)—Dr. Jerry D. Jewell, president of the Little Rock branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Sunday that "Dollarway Defense Day" collections were satisfactory.

He would not say how much was collected in Negro churches in the Little Rock area and elsewhere.

The money is to help pay legal expenses for William Howard, 33, who is charged with assault with attempt to kill in connection with a racial incident at Dollarway School near Pine Bluff. A white youth, Johnny Irvin, received a minor stab wound in the altercation.

Howard is the brother of George Howard, president of the state branch of the NAACP. William Howard's defense will be arranged by the national NAACP.

Red Wings' Howe Is Top Scorer

MONTREAL (AP) — Veteran Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings has zoomed to the top of the scoring race in the National Hockey League.

Howe, playing his 17th NHL season, scored five points last week on two goals and three assists and jumped from fifth to first.

League statistics released today show Howe and Boston's Johnny Bucyk, the previous week's leader, each have 56 points. Officially, however, Howe is ranked first because he has scored 27 goals to 22 for Bucyk.

Jean Beliveau of Montreal is third with 55 points while Frank Mahovlich of Toronto, Stan Mikita of Chicago and Murray Oliver of Boston are tied for fourth at 54.

Wisconsin Gives Illini First Setback

By SHELDOON SAKOWITZ

Associated Press Sports Writer

Before the start of the college basketball season, Coach Harry Combes of Illinois optimistically declared, "We're shooting for the Big Ten title, and nothing less than a 14-0 mark will please me."

After Monday night, Combes is destined to spend the next five weeks displeased, even if the Illinois State University, fourth-ranked nationally, man-thumped the tub for his Tigers' first at Warren's sixth annual All-Sports Banquet.

Wisconsin's underrated Badgers saw to that by handing the Illinois their first league defeat, 84-77 at Madison, Wis. The upset left Illinois with a 14-3 record over-all, 6-1 within the Big Ten.

Only two other members of the Top Ten were in action Monday night. Mississippi State's Maroons, No. 6, turned back Kentucky 56-52 on their home floor and took a commanding edge in the Southeastern Conference race. Seventh-ranked Colorado bolstered its Big Eight lead with a 71-60 victory over Oklahoma at Boulder.

Wisconsin, now 3-4 in the Big Ten, utilized a zone defense in the first half and a stall in the second half to thwart Illinois.

Minnesota's hopes of catching Illinois were jolted by Indiana, 89-77, at Bloomington. The Go-phers suffered their third league defeat against five victories.

Oklahoma State moved into sole possession of second place in the Big Eight, a game behind Colorado, with a 54-53 verdict at Kansas.

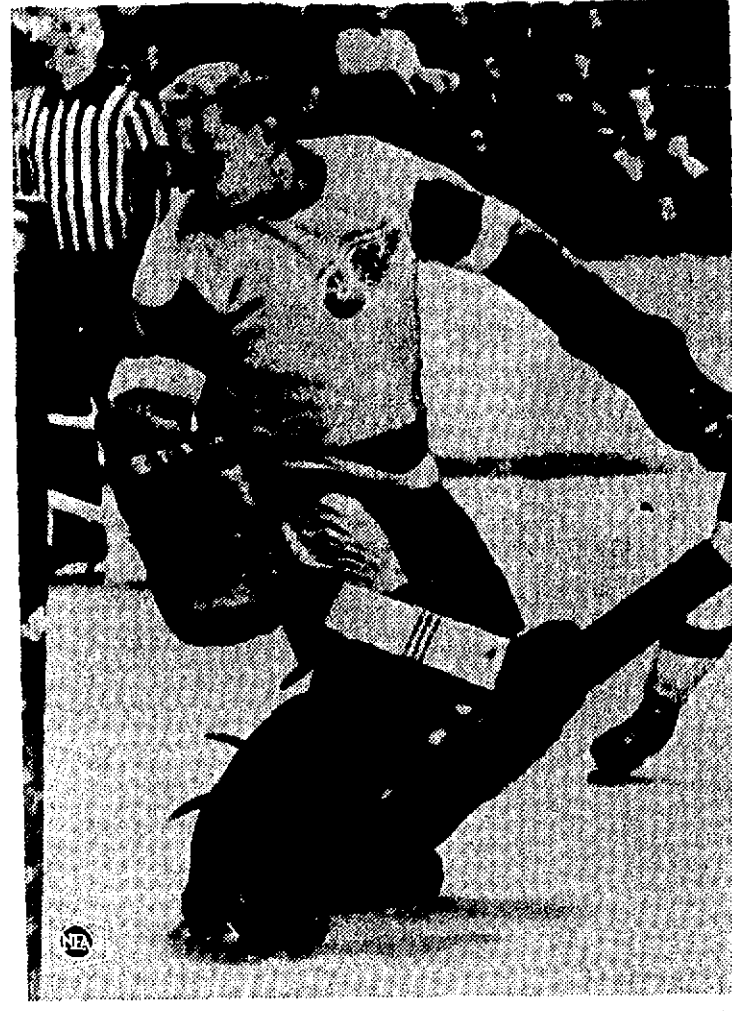

In other games Iowa State won at Nebraska 75-54; Wichita romped at home, walloping Drake 73-49; Oklahoma City proved a rude host to North Texas 82-69; Maryland won at South Carolina 51-44; Mississippi posted a 85-78 home floor victory over Tennessee and Furman defeated Virginia Military 91-85 at Greenville, S.C.

Elsewhere — Alabama won at Georgia 61-59; Auburn scored at home over Florida, 88-59; William and Mary routed East Carolina 81-66 at Williamsburg, Va.; Memphis State topped visiting Louisville 76-55; Detroit edged invading Iowa 61-58; Miami of Ohio was a home court winner against Xavier of Ohio 59-57; Seton Hall posted a 99-83 decision at Scranton; Morehead state was a 90-86 victor at home over Murray State; and host Washington State beat Montana 74-63.

Sentenced to Life for Slaying

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fred Hooks, 17, a Little Rock Negro, was sentenced Monday to life imprisonment for the slaying of Charles David Horton, 36, a white taxi driver last November.

Hooks was convicted of first degree murder. Horton was beaten to death. Circuit Judge William J. Kirby sentenced Hooks formally Monday, although the jury set the penalty.

PUCK-EYE VIEW—Hank Bassen of the Red Wings literally has his eyes on the puck as it whizzes by the goaltender at the Boston Garden. The disk was above the net.

THIRD DOWN—Cookie Gilchrist, left, and Len Dawson, center, are presented Third Down Trophies at a luncheon in San Diego, Calif., by Murray Olderman, Newspaper Enterprise Association sports cartoonist-writer. Teammates elected the fullback and the quarterback the most valuable players with the American Football League Buffalo Bills and Dallas Texans, respectively. They carried their clubs.

Upsets Are Predictable in the AIC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Upsets have become almost predictable in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball race this year, and this could be a good night for them.

Arkansas A&M, the league leader, takes on slumping Arkansas Tech at Russellville tonight.

Tech's most wonderful wonder "Boys-Kenny Sylors—has people wondering more than ever, now, the sticky native of Pyatt hasn't been up to his 29-point average lately. In fact, he's done well to get half that number.

Sinking and overloaded defenses haven't helped his average, either, but then Tech isn't famous for being a one-man team. It could be a good night for a reversal of form.

In other AIC action tonight, Hendrix visits State Teachers, which dropped out of the chase for first place last week with back to back beatings.

Arkansas College, the AIC's Cinderella, plays Ouachita at Arkadelphia, home of the Tigers. Ouachita is second in the league with a 10-2 record. A&M is 12-2.

Spy Business Pretty Sad on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio, Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The glamorous spy business is in a pretty sad fix, as far as television entertainment goes.

Take, for example, the unimaginative goings on during Sunday's last meeting between OBC and Arkansas College, was a one-point thriller, with the Highlanders getting the nod.

Quachita stands as the favorite, though not prohibitive, to reverse that decision.

The last time Tech and A&M met, the Aggies took a one-point triumph. Nobody's saying that one can't be altered, either.

In action Monday night, Little Rock University put down Harding 68-63 on the shooting of Fred Eastin, Larry Finley and Don Hurst. Vernon Rogers netted 24 in Harding's useless effort.

Porks Will Try to Even Things With Rice Owls

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

Arkansas' Razorbacks seek vengeance and second place in the Southwest Conference basketball race here tonight.

Kendall Rhine and the Rice Owls provide the opposition.

The last time these two teams met, Rice clobbered Arkansas 85-70, and Rhine humiliated the Hogs with a 44-point performance, setting a Rice record.

The previous individual scoring record was 42 points.

Rhine, who towers to 6-feet, 9-inches, put in 20 of 30 shots from the field and added four free throws.

Rice is 5-2 in the league, Arkansas is 4-3. A triumph for the Razorbacks would pull them even with the Owls.

"Our big job," Arkansas basketball coach Glen Rose said Monday, "is to hold him to something more like his season's average."

That would be 22.

"We'd have to do it without fouling out our own offense," Rose added. "Larry Wofford and Jim Wilson got loaded down with fouls against him (Rhine) real early last time."

However burdened with fouls, Wilson went on to have his best night as a Razorback, hitting over 20 points. Even so, another Rice player (besides Rhine) scored more points than any of the Arkansas starters.

That was a 23-point effort by Larry Phillips of Rice.

The last battle was just before the mid-semester layoff, Jan. 13.

Arkansas Horse Champ of Meet

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) — Rex

Beau was named the Parade champion of 1962 by the Mid-South Horse Show Association here Monday. The horse is owned by King O'Leary of Little Rock, Ark.

night's "Two Faces of Treason" on NBC.

It was a tale about a hesitant, unambitious Army Corporal called to reluctant cloak and dagger duty because he resembled a deceased foreign agent—an agent who met his reward crossing against a red light.

In addition, the clever foreign agents identify each other by flashing laundry tickets. And the heads of both the Washington and New York apparatuses are really working for use. Finally, our reluctant hero gets away with his masquerade by pretending he has amnesia.

There's nothing more fascinating than a rip-roaring, fast-paced and slick espionage tale. But it's been a long, long time since we've seen one on television—except on the late late shows. They require special skill, the kind possessed by Eric Ambler, who can write them, and Alfred Hitchcock, who can direct them.

The last meeting between OBC and Arkansas College, was a one-point thriller, with the Highlanders getting the nod.

Quachita stands as the favorite, though not prohibitive, to reverse that decision.
